Ronald Millner Speaks To Coop

J. Ronald Millner of Appomattox, attended Southern States Cooperative's 41st annual Stockholders Meeting in Richmond, last week where Millner was one of eight young farmers and young homemakers to appear on a special panel. Millner is the 1964-65 president of the Virginia Future Farmers of America. Dr. B. F. D. Runk (right), a member of the cooperative's board of directors and dean of the University of Virginia, was panel moderator. They are shown here looking over the cooperative's annual report). The panel, which was part of the special salute the cooperative gave to young farmers and homemakers from the five-state area that it serves, discussed the "Future of Farming" as they saw it from the standpoint of their own state and region.

Wouldn't it be nice to have a flameless electric dryer today?

An electric clothes dryer is more than just a marvelous convenience in bad weather. It's a year 'round saving machine that can actually save the average homemaker 20 eight-hour days at the clothesline every year. It saves on ironing time.

Saves on clothes and linens, too, because you need far fewer. And right now, there's an extra saving. Ask your Live Better Electrically dealer about VEPCO's special offer (good until December 1st) of $15 off qualifying electric dryer installation!
